Congress Needs to Slow Down

This is Hugh Hewitt for Townhall.com.

A revealing study by the nation's largest accounting firm, PriceWaterhouseCoopers, concluded that Obamacare will drive the cost of health insurance for a family of four from the $13,000 they pay today to $26,000 in ten years—far higher than would happen if nothing was done in Congress.

This stunning conclusion was immediately denounced by the president and his congressional allies, but we must put politics aside and focus on the facts. The wildly risky scheme advanced by the president has so many unknowns and so many new benefits for people currently not paying for health insurance that costs of course will skyrocket. Now we can glimpse just how high they will go, and this shock should force Congress to pause and reconsider its zeal for its rush to legislate.

The country is on the edge of a cliff and could be watching the destruction of American medicine. Call your senators and urge them to stop and reconsider what they are doing. 202-224-3121 will connect to you the Capitol switchboard. Call today and demand Congress slow down.

I'm Hugh Hewitt.
